Video-38

Blinking an LED

This simple project uses an Arduino to blink the built-in LED at regular intervals. The LED turns on for one second and then off for one second, continuously repeating. It demonstrates basic digital output control using the pinMode() and digitalWrite() functions.